

IPA 2011-2012

When the Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is calculated, a specified amount of income is protected for medical/dental expenses. This amount, known as the income protection allowance (IPA), is not used in the calculation of the EFC. The amount that is protected for medical/dental expenses varies dependent upon a student's dependency status, family size and number in college. If the sum of your out-of-pocket expenses for medical/dental is more than the IPA the government sets for your family, upon appeal, our office can requested your EFC to be recalculated including the higher figure.

See the charts provided below to determine the amount your expenses must exceed in order for the appeal to be considered. Although we may re-evaluate your financial aid package, it is not guaranteed that you will qualify for more assistance. The date you submitted your FAFSA application, the date you submitted your appeal, the amount of your expenses, and your financial need as determined by our office (see Awarding Process on our web at: <http://www.finaid.wsu.edu/awarding.html>) all influence what a student is eligible for in terms of financial aid.
